Part of the Explore Lifelong Learning series. Presented by Margaret Kennedy. Historical Archaeology explores the stories and lives of past people since the time of European contact using material culture, historical and other documents and ethnohistory. Dr. Kennedy will give an illustrated survey of the various kinds of historical archaeology done in Saskatchewan over the past century and the rich stories of the province's past that have emerged from that important work. We will look, for example, at the archaeology of the fur trade, Indigenous and Métis sites, early settlement and homestead sites, industrial sites and other sites representative of the past 250 or so years of Saskatchewan history. Margaret Kennedy recently retired from teaching Archaeology in the Department of Archaeology and Anthropology at the University of Saskatchewan but continues to be active in the archaeology of the northern plains. She now holds an Adjunct Professor position with the Department, keeping up her involvement with graduate student supervision and research there. Her specializations in Historical Archaeology over the past 43 years include the archaeology and history of the buffalo robe ("whiskey") trade, the mining towns and industries of the Crowsnest Pass, buffalo hunting Métis winter camps, early homestead sites and urban archaeological sites. She also has experience in pre-contact archaeology and for the past seven years has been studying the rich ceremonial stone feature landscape of the Forks of the Red Deer and South Saskatchewan rivers with colleague Dr. Brian Reeves. Everyone welcome!

Today, the canola industry contributes billions of dollars to the Canadian economy! Ministry of Parks, Culture and Sport Training Programs

The Ministry of Parks, Culture and Sport is pleased to invite you to two workshops that will be held in Regina on May 1 and 2, 2019. These free workshops will provide training in heritage conservation tools that will be of interest to anyone who owns, uses, manages, interprets or regulates heritage buildings and other historic places. If you have attended past workshops, thank you for your participation. Please feel free to share this invitation with others who may be interested.

Wednesday, May 1: Statement of Significance and Heritage Inventory

9:30 am – 4:30 pm

A Statement of Significance is a document that explains why a historic place is important, and identifies those features of the place that must be preserved. Using hands on exercises and case studies, workshop participants will learn how to assess a historic place's heritage value, identify its character defining elements, and communicate this information in a well written Statement of Significance. The workshop will also provide guidance for creating a heritage inventory, an indispensable tool for identifying and managing a community's historic places.

Thursday, May 2: Heritage Standards and Guidelines and Downtown Design

9:00 am – 4:00 pm

It is necessary to properly maintain heritage buildings, and sometimes to make changes to them. This workshop will discuss best practices for this work, including striking a balance between heritage requirements and economic feasibility. Participants will be introduced to the Standards and Guidelines for the Conservation of Historic Places in Canada, a nationally recognized manual that guides decisions about alterations to heritage buildings and other historic places. The workshop will also include a presentation on downtown design elements and heritage conservation.

These workshops will be valuable learning opportunities for anyone who makes decisions that affect historic places. The workshops are designed so that they can be taken on a standalone basis, but attendance at both is recommended for maximum benefit. Both workshops qualify for professional learning credits from the Saskatchewan Professional Planners Institute. There is no registration fee, but pre-registration is required. Seating is limited and will be booked on a first-come basis (please note that lunch is not provided). Both workshops will be held at the Royal Saskatchewan Museum, 2445 Albert Street, Regina To register please follow the appropriate link:

Fieldwork Opportunity

Public Excavation Program at the Cluny Fortified Village Site May 13 – June 12, 2019

The University of Calgary is offering a volunteer excavation program at Blackfoot Crossing Historical Park. Participants will excavate alongside members of the Archaeology Field School at the famous Cluny Fortified Village site. First time participants will receive a tour of the archaeological site. Volunteers will be supervised by experienced University of Calgary graduate students, and training in archaeological excavation techniques will be provided on site. All artifacts from the site are the property of the Siksika Nation and, ultimately, will be stored at Blackfoot Crossing Historical Park Interpretive Centre.

The program will operate from May 13 to June 12, 2019, Monday–Friday. Participants must commit to a minimum of two days with the program.

Cost consists of the daily admission fee to Blackfoot Crossing Historical Park ($12.00 + GST for adults, $8.00+GST for children (under 17) and seniors). Participants will meet with volunteer program supervisors at the Blackfoot Crossing Historical Park Interpretive Centre parking lot at 9:00 AM each day—please note that there are no overnight accommodation facilities at the park. The work day runs from 9:00 AM to 4:00 PM.

Minimum age of participation is 12. Participants under the age of 18 must be accompanied by a responsible adult at all times. All participants will be required to complete a Volunteer Liability Waiver Form and a Photography Waiver Form. The guardian of participants under the age of 18 must also complete an Informed Consent Form.

The Public Archaeology Program, the Department of Anthropology and Archaeology, and the University of Calgary are not responsible for cancelled registrations or cancellations as the result of severe weather conditions. In the event of severe weather conditions, the Public Archaeology Program will attempt to contact excavation participants either the night before or early on the day of excavation. Changing weather conditions in the field may require cancellation of the workday while at the site. In either case, no refunds of the Blackfoot Crossing Historical Park admission fee or costs relating to travel to the park will be provided. Participants may re-register for alternative participation dates, but there is no guarantee that there will be other dates available in the excavation program.
